Art at the Market is an opportunity for Squamish-area artists to show and sell their creative works to local residents and visitors. Each of the four dates will be used to feature a number of artists.

The gallery will be at the Squamish Arts Council Building on Cleveland Avenue, beside the pavilion in the park and will be manned by the artists showing that day. Next door, will be the Farmer's Market.

The cost to participate in Art at the Market is $10 per day. Each artist wishing to show needs to select one or more dates (you are guaranteed one day, with the option of more, based on numbers of artists requiring space). We have three rooms available so we each have the option to bring more art than we have in the past.

Artists of the Day must be prepared to volunteer their time during the event to: man the gallery; hang posters and signs the morning of the event to direct people from the Farmers Market; tag, price and hang up and take down their own works; encourage visitors to vote for the People's Choice Award; promote the show to their own contacts; and distribute information about the other upcoming art events. Set up time is 9:00 a.m. sharp.

VISUALS will be marketing and publicizing information about the events, circulated locally and throughout the Vancouver and North Shore to Whistler areas. Newspaper and local T.V. media will also be contacted. An e-mail version of your bio, with 3 images, is required, if you'd like to participate in publicity opportunities. E-mails are to be sent to wandad@telus.net.

All artists are urged to submit a paper version bio, in 8.5"x11" format, with at least 3 photos of their current work for the Bio Binder. (If you're submitting one for the ArtWalk - Studio and Gallery Tour, a second copy is not required). Artists who have not participated before are required to submit both a bio and 3 photos of current work for jurying.
